Contagious Ills Checked By Immunization Program

Free immunization to prevent dangerous contagious diseases is a year-round program of the County Health Department, according to Supervisor Kenneth Hahn.

In Hahn's Second Supervisorial District, the immunization program is available at 10 health centers and 14 subcenters.

"The thousands of shots given to children and adults are one of the most important contributions to protect the public health in Los Angeles County," Hahn said.

CONTAGIOUS diseases which have been kept at a minimum by the County Health Department's immunization program include diphtheria, pertussis (whooping cough), tetanus, polio, measles, and smallpox.

The Health Department makes available free vaccine to private physicians who agree to administer it free of charge to children under the age of six.

Under the auspices of the Immunization Project, diphtheria, pertussis (whooping cough), and tetanus vaccines are given children up to age six at all 24 health facilities within the county, Hahn reported.

BY THE time boys and girls reach age six, whooping cough is no longer a serious threat. However, from 6 to 18 years, diphtheria and tetanus shots and boosters continue to be given, and no charge is made to parents for this service.

Polio has almost been wiped out since the discovery of the Salk and Sabin vaccines. The treatment to prevent polio is given from 6 weeks to 18 years of age. There is a charge of $1 for polio shots for children over five who need the immunization to enter school. Measles shots are offered to boys and girls between one and 18 years of age, Hahn noted.

Smallpox can be dangerous at any age level, and shots for this highly contagious potential killer are administered from one year of age throughout adulthood. However, smallpox shots are not given to adults who need the vaccination to permit them to travel.

Dog Obedience Class Sets Graduation Rites

Graduation ceremonies for 73 dogs and their trainers from Children's Dog Obedience will take place next Saturday at Walteria Park. The six-week class, sponsored by the Torrance Recreation Department under instruction of Roy Smith, will begin graduation at 9:30 a.m. and will finish at 4 p.m.

Each dog will be examined by a licensed American Kennel Club judge and will graduate after passing the exercises which demonstrate how well the dog has been trained.

Included in the examination which each dog performs is heeling on a leash, standing for inspection, a long sit and long down.

Trophies, dog food, pictures and other awards will be donated by various dog food companies.

All interested persons may attend the ceremonies. Walteria Park is located at 3855 242nd St.
